Safety Moment: Hypothermia

Commissioner Minute- Why Safety Matters?

A Scout (Leader) is Prepared... Whether spending time in extremely cold temperatures in winter or cool, damp conditions during the summer, our bodies can be affected by hypothermia. If the conditions are right, you and your Scouts could find yourselves in a situation where hypothermia is a genuine risk. In some colder climates, conditions can even lead to frostbite.

If you learn of the warning signs and take precautions ahead of time, you can reduce the risk of hypothermia and keep yourself and your Scouts safe and enjoying outdoor experiences throughout the year. In this BSA Safety Moment we'll learn 1) what hypothermia is, 2) its risk factors, and 3) the care and treatment of the condition.
